BookBaby, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 226 x 147 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. I started my conversations with God at a very early age. But, my hardest conversation with God was the day my husband died. I could not believe God in his infinite wisdom would take him from me and my family. I got so tired of people telling me that God does not make mistakes and doesn't do anything without a reason. I told God he had made a big mistake this time. Yet, every time I turned around someone else said to me, God does not make mistakes. That Sunday morning after he passed I lay in bed crying, dreading having to get up, and dreading even more all the things I had to take care of on Monday morning. I asked God again, why him, why now, and out of the blue on the TV Joel Osteen said, God does not make mistakes. I gave in and said, OK God! I get it, I get it. I don't like it, but I get it. My husband, Jolly, was my very best friend, the love of my life, and my hero in every sense of the word. I don't mean to sound like I worshipped him, far from it. We had our fights and arguments like everyone else, but somehow managed to get over them. Talk about opposites. No one could believe it, when we got married. We were so totally different from each other. Where I was extremely shy and quiet, he was loud and full of life. But, what people couldn't see was that we completed each other in more ways than one. Lots of people say that, but for us it was really true. We...
