Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from An Eskimo Village Little John is a middle-aged Eskimo; a squarely built, shaggy-headed little man, a clever hunter, and hard enough to be well and happy among all the hard weather and rough raw food of an Eskimo village. John drove my dog-sledge in the winter; he was a famous builder of snow houses, and the most wonderful pathfinder I ever saw. Once upon a time we were camped in a tiny snow house of his building, and with much labour because of the frosty air and the thick gloves I wore I was writing with my pencil in a notebook. John puffed at his pipe and watched me. What are you writing? said he. I am writing about this journey, said I. Why do you not write about our village? said John. And so, because of what little John said, I have taken my pen and am writing about our village. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
